

Brendan Carr

The Corporation of London, the City's local authority, yesterday unveiled a statue of a trader from the London International Financial Futures and Options Exchange, in a tribute to "the world's second largest futures trading floor." Editorial Comment, Observer, Page 21

1997 October 2nd - The LIFFE Dealer by Stephen Melton as seen in The Financial Times.